PROFILE

Through my experiences during my schooling, I have developed many skills and learned a lot about myself. I have shown that I can stay committed to groups and different activities. Through my time in FFA I have learned how to publicly speak and be a leader. My time in the yearbook has given me many different opportunities and has shown me my passion. It also led me to becoming the Editor-in-Chief my senior year. This role strengthened my management and delegating skills, while also giving me an opportunity to grow my personal strategic thinking.
